There are two special forms for verbs called voice:
1. Active voice
2. Passive voice

The active voice is the "normal" voice. This is the voice that we use most of the time. You are probably already familiar with the active voice. In the active voice, the object receives the action of the verb:
Ex: Cats eat fish

The passive voice is less usual. In the passive voice, the subject receives the action of the verb:
Ex: Fish are eaten by cats

Look at the following sentences:
Sunanda wrote a novel.
A novel was written by Sunanda.

In the first sentence the subject, Sunanda, performs the action and the verb wrote, is said to be in the active voice. In the second sentence the subject is a novel, and the verb, ‘was written’ is said to be in the passive voice.

A verb is in the active voice when it tells what the subject does;
It is in the passive voice when it tells what the subject suffers.

We know that only a verb used transitively can take an object; therefore, only a transitive verb has two voices, the active and the passive. A verb that has an object of its own is called transitive verb and if it has two, it is then known as ditransitive. So it is sometimes possible for two passive forms of a ditransitive verb.

Ex: I sent her a message. (AV)
A message was sent (to) her by me or she was sent a message by me (PV)

The object of the active verb becomes the subject of the passive verb:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>verb</th>
<th>object</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Everybody</td>
<td>drinks</td>
<td>water.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Water</td>
<td>is drunk</td>
<td>by everybody.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
1) The passive voice is formed by putting the verb ‘to be’ into the appropriate tense and adding the past participle (V3 - the third form of a finite verb)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Tense</th>
<th>Active voice</th>
<th>Passive Voice</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Simple present</td>
<td>I keep</td>
<td>I am kept</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Present continuous</td>
<td>I am keeping</td>
<td>I am being kept</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Simple Past</td>
<td>I kept</td>
<td>I was kept</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Past Continuous</td>
<td>I was keeping</td>
<td>I was being kept</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Present Perfect</td>
<td>I have kept</td>
<td>I have been kept</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Past Perfect</td>
<td>I had kept</td>
<td>I had been kept</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Simple Future</td>
<td>I shall keep</td>
<td>I shall be kept</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2) Study the following sentences:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active</th>
<th>Passive</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Farmers grow crops.</td>
<td>Crops are grown by farmers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He explained the lesson.</td>
<td>The lesson was explained by him.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cats kill rats</td>
<td>Rats are killed by cats.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We notice that when a sentence is changed from active to Passive, the object of the active voice becomes the subject of the passive.

3) Let us examine the following sentences:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active</th>
<th>Passive</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Shaw wrote this play.</td>
<td>This play was written by Shaw.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The postman is collecting letters.</td>
<td>Letters are being collected by the postman.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We see that in the passive voice the agent, when mentioned, is preceded, by the preposition by’.

4) Let us look at the following:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active</th>
<th>Passive</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>People always admire this picture.</td>
<td>This picture is always admired.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Someone has stolen my books.</td>
<td>My books have been stolen.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>People speak English all over the world.</td>
<td>English is spoken all over the world.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We notice that when the subject in the active voice is vague or unknown, it remains unexpressed in the passive voice.
5) Study the following sentences:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active</th>
<th>Passive</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1) Krishna gave me a book</td>
<td>a) I was given a book by Krishna</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>b) A book was given (to) me by Krishna</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2) Who taught you English?</td>
<td>a) By who were you taught English?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>b) By whom was English taught to you?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We notice that when a verb in the active voice has an indirect as well as a direct object, either of them can become the subject of the passive voice. But it is more usual in English to make the personal (indirect) object the subject of the passive voice.

6) When we wish to turn an imperative, active into the passive, we have to make use of a paraphrase, using the verb let:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active</th>
<th>Passive</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Tell him to go</td>
<td>Let him be told to go.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saddle the horse</td>
<td>Let the horse be saddled.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dispatch the letter</td>
<td>Let the letter be dispatched.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Uses of the Passive Voice

The passive construction is used:

1) If the active subject is not known, so that an active construction is impossible:
   Ex: My purse has been stolen (I do not know by whom).
    She was tempted to buy.
    The plane was lost somewhere in the hills.

2) When the subject in the active voice is unmistakably clear from the context:
   Ex: He was sent to prison for three years (by the judge).
    She was dismissed (by her mistress). Mistakes are always committed.

3) If we do not want to mention the active subject, we then use the impersonal passive construction, with ‘It’ as the subject of the passive verb.
   Ex: It is said that there will be a great crowd (somebody said so)
    It is believed that the prisoner is not guilty (believed by people in general).
    It is rumored that the government proposes to introduce tax on agricultural income (some people have spread the rumour).
    It is feared that there are no survivors.
4) If we take a great interest in the sufferer than in the doer of the action:

Ex: Mary was punished by her father.
The ship was wrecked in a storm.
